

Number of Households Affected by Senate Excise Tax on “High Cost” Plans

Average Tax Increase* Among Households Affected by Senate Excise Tax on “High Cost” Plans by Income Group

* Households are expected to pay higher taxes because employers are likely to replace a portion of high-cost health care benefits with current wage compensation. Households will have higher tax liabilities because health care benefits are exempt from tax but wages are taxable.

Percentage of Health Care Plans Affected by the Senate Excise Tax on “High Cost” health plans

Percentage of Households Affected by Senate Excise Tax on “High Cost” Plans by Income Group

Average Tax Increase Among All Households Affected by the Senate Excise Tax on “High Cost” Plans*

* Households are expected to pay higher taxes because employers are likely to replace a portion of high-cost health care benefits with current wage compensation. Households will have higher tax liabilities because health care benefits are exempt from tax but wages are taxable.